1 200 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Bronze

Height : 26cm

Depth : 10cm

Description

A decorative piece consisting of a natural egg with a speckled shell in shades of brown, mauve, and blue, mounted on a finely chiseled gilded bronze base in the Empire/Neoclassical style. The top is crowned with a domed lid adorned with an openwork frieze and surmounted by a gilded bronze pheasant with outstretched wings and tail, serving as a handle. The circular base is supported by three female figures draped in the classical style (caryatids/dancers), rendered in the round, holding between them panels of sculpted drapery. The pedestal is decorated with an engraved compass rose/eight-pointed star and rests on a circular plinth featuring godrons and a frieze of stylized floral motifs. The underside of the tabletop is lined with black felt.
