Description

Large, ornately shaped shawl chest from the Charles X period, crafted from mottled maple with beautiful flamed grain and a warm honey-colored patina.The front, sides, and back are adorned with the soft curves characteristic of furniture from the Charles X period, circa 1820-1830.The domed lid features an ornamental monogram made of steel nails, likely consisting of intertwined letters.Surrounding the lock is a motif of foliage and volutes, also made of steel nails.The interior is entirely lined with marbled wallpaper in shades of brown, burgundy, and cream.Handles on each side.Please note: the lock works, but the box does not lock because the latches on the front plate are missing.This box was restored in our workshops; the veneer, patina, and interior were refinished.Dimensions: 54 cm x
