Description

Oil on canvas, French School. Jean Abadie is a figurative painter originally from the southwest (Tarbes) who worked in the Tours region. Jean Abadie has carved out a strong niche for himself in the art market thanks to his scenes of everyday life. His style is generous, often executed in impasto (with a thick application of paint). This painting is very characteristic of his work, featuring a palette of warm colors. He began painting relatively late in life, in the 1960s, and started his career in Orientalist painting. Jean Abadie Toulouse School of Fine Arts Solo exhibitions in London, Lausanne, Frankfurt, Brussels, Paris, and Saint-Paul-de-Vence. Parisian Salons: Artistes Français, Salon d'Automne, Comparaisons, and the National des Beaux-Arts. Gold Medal at the Salon des
