Description

A very elegant glazed stoneware vase by Eugène Baudin, made in his studio in Saint-Briac-sur-Mer, circa 1900-1906.Ovoid in shape, this vase features a remarkable relief floral design, enhanced by a superb glaze in shades of celadon green, olive green, and brown, with beautiful textural effects and glaze runs characteristic of the ceramic experimentation of the Art Nouveau period.The piece is a particularly fine example of Eugène Baudin's work during his Breton period in Saint-Briac, a brief and highly sought-after phase in his career.Height 14 cm, width 14 cm, depth 11 cmExcellent condition, with slight crazing of the glaze due to the artisanal manufacturing process of this piece.
