Description

A beautiful glazed stoneware covered jar by Émile Mousseux, made at the Faïencerie d'art de Marlotte around 1920-1930, in the Montigny-sur-Loing region. Round and slightly flattened in shape, this piece captivates with its superb blue-green, celadon green, and brown glaze, featuring particularly decorative shades and glaze runs. The lid harmoniously echoes this same artistic treatment of the material. The piece bears the mark "E.M. Marlotte " on the base, corresponding to Émile Mousseux's personal production following the death of Aristide Bézard in 1916. Émile Mousseux (1866-1941) was one of the leading figures in artistic ceramics at Marlotte, where he developed a significant body of stoneware featuring original glazes. Height 8 cm, diameter 10.5 cm. In perfect
