Description

Porcelain scroll vase from the Virebent factory (Lot), decorated with a landscape and stylized birds in shades of green, 1970s. Height 25.5 cm, diameter 9 cm. Perfect condition. Virebent Manufactory. In 1924, Henri Virebent, born into a family of architects from Toulouse, opened his factory in Puy l'Evêque, in the heart of the Lot region. Today, Virebent is one of the last porcelain workshops to manufacture entirely in France. What sets it apart is its use of three techniques--casting, sizing, and pressing--to work with porcelain, earthenware, and stoneware. This allows the workshop to produce pieces ranging from white porcelain to color-glazed items and decorated pieces.
