

Battle-edge Saber--heavy Cavalry Officer, Dragons--first Empire

1 990 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Metal

Length : 116 cm -- sf : 112 cm -- lame: 96,5 cm

Width : lame au talon: 3,7 cm

Description

Heavy Cavalry Dragoon Officer's Saber with "Battle" Guard, First Empire period, with its leather scabbard featuring two brass fittings and two suspension rings. Brass mount, with a long-tailed cap and a filigree leather grip. A "Battle" guard with one main prong and four secondary prongs (one split at the base). Openwork guard shell and counter-shell decorated with palmette motifs. Rivet button on the cap within its diamond-shaped setting. Sturdy 96.5 cm blade, straight with a flat back, a single cutting edge, and two fuller grooves along its entire length; the point extends in line with the back of the blade. Leather scabbard with two brass fittings; a very long-tailed pommel with an iron tip and a brass cap, both cut out and decorated with engraved lines. A very large saber, 116 cms

Dealer

Le Lys et l'Epée

Art premier, Memento Mori, Judaica, Maçonnique, Militaria, Bijoux, Mode

Tonnay-Charente 17430

longLength without the scabbard: 112 cmsBlade length: 96.5 cmBlade width at the heel: 3.7
cmThe blade still has its leather tie at the heel; no visible hallmark, though it may be hidden beneath the tie.In good condition and well-used, with its original patina; there is a flaw on one prong of the guard--see photos; the selling price reflects the condition of the guard.Free shipping within FranceInternational shipping rates vary by countryBrowse our other items in our gallery and on our website: <https://www.IrisAntik.com>