Description

An elegant Indo-Kirman rug, crafted in India in the tradition of great Persian carpets and directly inspired by famous Kirman designs. Its refined pattern centers on a large, lobed central medallion, richly adorned with floral and botanical motifs. The medallion--featuring deep tones of midnight blue, burgundy, green, and ivory--stands out against a light-colored, abundantly floral field. Delicate scrolling vines, bouquets, and small blossoms create a richly detailed design, striking a beautiful balance between the light background and the bolder tones of the medallion. The composition is framed by several successive borders, each fully decorated with floral and botanical motifs that add depth and elegance. This highly decorative rug features a classic, timeless design that gracefully echoes the aesthetic of traditional Kirman Persian carpets. Dimensions: 215 x 215 cm + 9 cm fringe on each side Condition: Good overall condition. There is a line of minor wear--visible in the photographs--located within one of the borders. Two small holes are present in the kilim section near the fringe, though they do not affect the rug's structural integrity. The fringe is tangled and shows slight soiling. *The rug has been professionally cleaned. *Video available upon request MY COMPLETE GALLERY
