Description

An important, large-scale oil painting on canvas, dating from the 17th century, depicting the Martyrdom of Saint Sebastian. The saint, on the left, is tied to a tree: his arms hang from the branches, his legs are bound by a chain, and his body--covered only by a white drapery--is pierced by arrows. On the right, a group of soldiers in ancient-style armor--wearing breastplates, lamellar kirtles, and red boots--stands in a semicircle. Provenance: France Date: 1600 Dimensions: 119 x 97 (h) cm
