Description

Snap-closure bangle bracelet crafted from 750/°° yellow gold (18 KT, eagle-head hallmark). Oval in shape and round in cross-section, this bracelet features a particularly understated and timeless design. Its generous profile and weight of 26.33 grams give it a striking presence on the wrist and attest to its exceptionally luxurious craftsmanship. The bangle is hinged, a design that allows it to take on an oval shape that naturally follows the contours of the wrist, rather than the circular shape of a traditional bangle designed to be slipped over the hand. This contoured shape, combined with its rounded profile, ensures a particularly comfortable fit while making it easy to put on. The bracelet fastens with a blade/ratchet clasp made of 750/°° (18 KT) white gold. The clasp is complemented by a side safety bar, ensuring a secure hold once the bracelet is closed. This combination of a blade clasp and a safety bar is, in fact, commonly found on open-ended gold bangles. With its deliberately minimalist design, this bracelet is one of the great classics of jewelry. Free of decoration or ornamentation, it highlights only the roundness and luster of the yellow gold. Its simplicity makes it particularly easy to wear and style: on its own, to emphasize the purity of its lines, or paired with a watch and other bracelets in a more contemporary layered look. The bracelet is in perfect condition. Despite its size and wear, its thick structure is perfectly preserved and shows no dents or impact marks--a particularly valuable quality for a bangle of this nature. A timeless and extremely versatile piece of jewelry, whose appeal lies in the simplicity of its design, the generous amount of gold used, and the quality of its craftsmanship.
