Description

An antique and charming Piedmontese "fratino" table, crafted in the late 17th century from walnut. The table features a large rectangular top supported by a characteristic trestle-style frame, with shaped legs and connecting crossbars, in keeping with the tradition of 17th-century Piedmontese tables. The piece retains a beautiful vintage patina that attests to its age and authenticity. The tabletop shows an older restoration, clearly visible in the photographs. Overall, the table is in excellent general condition, consistent with its age, with normal signs of use, wear, and imperfections due to the passage of time.
