Description

Elegant table clock with an arched case, crafted from hand-carved and ebonized wood, decorated with lost-wax cast and gilded bronze details. Further refinement is provided by the brass inlays on the wood, featuring plant and geometric motifs that recall the designs and construction techniques of the famous 18th-century French cabinetmaker Boulle. The clock mechanism is in perfect condition and features a weekly chime that chimes on the hours and half-hours. The dial features Roman numerals, while the case, which opens on the front and features glass, also features glass on the sides. The gilded bronze pendulum depicts a typical 18th-century sun. On the front, under the dial, the inscription "Henneger Lyon" is visible, referring to the French cabinet maker from Lyon, while the
