Description

1. Large Frame with a DragonA light-colored wooden panel featuring a winged dragon made of repoussé pewter, secured with small nails. The creature, with its membranous wings spread, mouth open, and tail curled, wraps around two sides of the L-shaped frame. The central window holds an old photographic visiting card (cabinet card) from the studio "H. Dufour, Parisian Photographer, Nevers." The back is made of wood, with four brass clips to hold the photo in place and a cord for hanging it on the wall.2. Small Frame with Woman and FlowersAn Art Nouveau-style brass (or gilded bronze) frame, adorned with an elegant draped female figure with one arm raised, surrounded by flowers and branches in relief. It rests on two small flared feet. The interior is lined with purple velvet, and
