Crackled porcelain ball-shaped planter with bronze mount--a very fashionable style from 1890-1930. Description: Shape: spherical porcelain body with ivory/cream crackle glaze all over, typical of Chinese crackle ware. Mounting: gilded bronze with a patina in the Louis XV / Rocaille style, very ornate: openwork crown at the neck with cartouches and small flowers, two large leaf-adorned handles ending in floral knobs, and a four-legged base with volutes. This is what is known as a European goldsmith's mount on export porcelain. Mark: on the bottom, in red, G & C + a small number 5M. This is the mark of a French importer/distributor. The porcelain itself is Wong Lee 1895, Hong Kong.
