Description

Oil on canvas. Signed lower right. Inside a study with thick stone walls and a vaulted ceiling, furnished with simple pieces but featuring a bookshelf filled with volumes, a monk sits at his work table, engrossed in writing. Jeno Kemendy, a Hungarian painter and set designer, devoted himself primarily to genre scenes, often set in periods earlier than his own. His expertise as a set designer is also evident in this painting, in the attention to detail in the setting and in the man's theatrical pose. The work shows slight color fading. It is presented in a period-style frame. ARAROT0305329
