Description

This remarkable 19th-century reliquary holds an Important relic of: Saint Margaret of Antioch (also known as Saint Marina) was a 4th-century Christian virgin and martyr venerated as one of the Fourteen Holy Helpers. The relic is housed in a simple yet elegant oval brass reliquary with an aged patina that enhances its historical charm. It is securely enclosed beneath its original glass and displays a red silk background. At the back of the reliquary, we find the Episcopal's wax seal of His Eminence Cardinal Costantino Patrizi Naro, Dean of the College of Cardinals, holding the threads together and guaranteeing the authenticity of this holy relic. Provenance: Private Italian collection Condition: This piece is in excellent condition for its age, with all elements preserved intact, including the wax seal and accompanying
