Paperolle: Artisanal technique of wrapping narrow strips of paper to create various forms and ornamental patterns. The paperolle is a very old technique used in the Middle Ages, in poor churches, to imitate gold or silver filigree decorations. The achievements were often reliquaries called paperolles. Paperolle is a term derived from paper. It designates not only the technique, but also the realization in paper. The term rolled papers is sometimes used as a synonym. Condition report: This exceptional reliquary is in outstanding condition given the delicacy of the material used as frame and its age. There is a small of the ebonized wood missing at the bottom, this does not affect the overall integrity of the reliquary. Rock crystal is in mint condition and the relics inside are in their original position with their names clearly visible. Provenance Spanish private collection Measurements: Height: Approx. 7 cm Width: Approx. 4
