Description

Large walnut library lectern dating from the late 19th century, featuring a reclining top shelf with tilt adjustment via a rack. Equipped with a pair of pull-out document shelves, adorned with handles carved with leaf scrolls, this lectern combines functionality and elegance. The four turned legs, resting on plinth bases with animal-shaped feet, are connected by a central crossbar. The crossbar is embellished with a pair of turned columns and openwork panels, giving the piece a solid and decorative structure. Perfect for enhancing the decor of a library or study, it combines classic aesthetics with practicality. Product condition: Due to its age and wear, this item requires restoration and refinishing. We strive to present the actual condition of the piece as fully as possible through the photos. If certain details are not clear from the
