Description

Walnut console table with mirror, made in Italy in the mid-20th century, featuring a green serpentine marble top that adds a touch of natural elegance. The band beneath the top houses three drawers with a finely carved Greek fret pattern, while the mirrored back panel and the openwork front leg--decorated with volutes, leaves, and a central shell--attest to the highest level of craftsmanship. The half-moon base in walnut burl provides stability and refinement. The upper mirror features engraved fillet work on the back, repeated on the lower mirror, and the frame with carved molding is embellished with ebonized details, lending a harmonious and sophisticated look to this classic piece of furniture.
