Description

An Italian-made table from the 1970s, characterized by a design with great visual impact. The semi-cylindrical legs are embellished with an elegant burl wood veneer, which gives the piece a refined look. The rectangular glass top, with beveled corners, offers an interesting contrast to the warm tone of the wood, enhancing the piece's overall brightness. This table is a prime example of Italian design from that era, where functionality and aesthetics come together harmoniously, making it ideal for spaces that favor a vintage yet sophisticated style.
