Description

These tobacco-colored Murano glass table lamps are heavy and solidly built (weighing 4 kg each) and stand out for their design, which is both elegant and striking. They perfectly blend modern design with classic elegance. The heavy, stone-like base captivates with its varied segments that run across its surface, giving the lamp an architectural character. The faceted glass base captures the light and refracts it into warm hues. A slightly elongated brass neck allows for the use of a taller shade; the bulb is positioned in the center of the shade and illuminates it evenly. The slightly tapered lampshade (lined in white), in a warm camel hue and crafted from coarse silk by Dedar, offers an interesting contrast to the smooth surface of the glass.
