Description

A 1970s "Space Age" pendant light featuring a sculptural chrome-plated metal frame combined with dark wood elements. The chrome frame encases a hand-blown glass globe that features an elegant gradient from opal white to translucent. The wooden blocks at the top and bottom complete the lamp's geometric design. The design and glasswork are reminiscent of Mazzega, Murano, though we can't definitively attribute: no markings are visible. Very good vintage condition. Wired and working. The chrome is well-preserved, and the glass is in perfect condition. The glass is in good condition. Some rust inside the ceiling cover, not visible when the pendant is installed. Total height: 60 cm Width: 28 cm Wiring in working order. Total height: 60 cm Width: 28 cm
