Description

A striking and spectacular chandelier made of blown and hand-crafted glass, in the style of the great Venetian Murano masterpieces. With a total height of 135 cm, this chandelier stands out for the exceptional richness of its design and the wide variety of its glass elements. The composition, with a very airy feel, combines numerous twisted light arms, generously scalloped cups, foliage, volutes, and pendants, predominantly crafted from slightly bluish transparent glass. The piece is lavishly adorned with polychrome flowers crafted from hot-worked glass, in shades of pink, yellow, blue, green, white, and mauve. Some are arranged in bouquets on long stems, while others are scattered throughout the chandelier's various tiers. Gilded and turquoise-blue glass elements enhance the piece's opulent and theatrical character. Small red pendants shaped like fruits or strawberries, along with numerous hanging ornaments, add a particularly whimsical and refined touch. The upper section unfolds into a truly monumental bouquet of flowers and foliage, giving the chandelier a slender and highly decorative silhouette. Its multi-tiered structure and numerous light arms make it a particularly impressive piece when lit. A chandelier with a very strong decorative presence, ideal for a grand entryway, a staircase, a reception hall, a mansion, a castle, or a contemporary interior seeking a bold and spectacular focal point.
