Description

Oil on panel by Tony-François DE BERGUES (1820-1890) Signed Tony de Bergues Biography source: Wikipedia Stanislas François de Bergue was born in Paris in 1820. He received his artistic training at the École royale des Beaux-Arts in Paris, where he studied under Léon Cogniet, with whom he developed a taste for seascapes and landscapes. In Nicolas Gosse's class, he practiced genre painting and historical painting. He exhibited for the first time at the Salon in 1845, then in 1847, and again from 1861 through 1867. His travels through the south of France, Italy, Spain, and Portugal allowed him to bring back numerous landscapes of the ports and coastlines of the Mediterranean and the English Channel. His brushwork, precise and meticulous in his early works, blossomed and became more free-flowing
