Description

Pair of Carved Wooden Candlesticks with Silver Leaf
Genoa, late 18th century
An elegant pair of candlesticks in finely carved wood gilded with silver leaf, representative of the refined Ligurian craftsmanship of the late 18th century. The turned shafts feature rich plant motifs and volutes, culminating in a large, corolla-shaped bowl. The bases, with their dynamic and highly sculptural forms, are decorated with cartouches, leaves, and shells in the full spirit of late Genoese Baroque. The original patina, with natural signs of aging, lends great charm and authenticity to the pieces. These decorative objects have a striking visual presence, ideal for classic or eclectic interiors, and look perfect on a console table, mantelpiece, or as a pair flanking a statement piece of furniture.
