Description

An elegant Art Nouveau table lamp featuring a bronze base with soft, sinuous lines, supporting a Daum Nancy tulip shade made of marbled glass. France - Art Nouveau - 1900-1910 The tulip features a warm speckled pattern in shades of orange and white, characteristic of Daum's early productions, in which layered glass and carefully controlled inclusions create a soft, diffused light effect. Its organic, bell-shaped form blends naturally with the fluid bronze structure, typical of French Art Nouveau design around 1900. Signed "Daum Nancy" with the Cross of Lorraine on the tulip. The bronze mount features a balanced, asymmetrical line inspired by nature, consistent with period mounts used for Daum glassware. Original pairing. In good overall condition, with slight signs of wear consistent
