

Empire-period Parisian Porcelain Shell-shaped Butter Dish Or Ramekin, Gilded With Fine Gold

110 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Porcelain

Description

A shell-shaped butter dish or ramekin, embellished with fine gold fillets. Paris porcelain, dating from the Empire and Restoration periods, early 19th century. A lovely piece with an elegant shape, rare in this narrower, elongated format that distinguishes it from a bread basket. We have a second bowl, a very similar model that would make a fine pair. In excellent condition, with beautiful, fresh gilding showing no wear. Length : 21.4cm Width : 13.9cm Height : 4.1cm
