Description

A charming painting, oil on canvas, depicting a bride dressed in white, holding a gift of a rosebush in a terracotta pot; she stands in front of her banquet table. The painting features a lovely rendering and a monochrome palette of white and gray, French school, circa 1900. The work is in good condition, set in a high-quality frame with a silver-leaf patina. The piece makes for a beautiful decorative display, 38 by 63.
