A truncated conical glass made of very fine and very light cristallo, resting directly on a hollow conical stem, with the base very slightly raised and featuring a small hemmed rim. Pinhole mark. Venice or Venetian-style, late 16th-early 17th century. Very good condition, no cracks or chips, small air bubbles in the glass. Note, however, a concentration of impurities over a three-centimeter section at the top of the bowl and a whitish area three centimeters high at the bottom of the bowl. The rim of the bowl is slightly higher on one side, causing a slight visual imbalance.
