Description

This elegant cherry wood chest of drawers, crafted in the late 19th century, elegantly embodies the Louis-Philippe style. Its understated and balanced silhouette, enhanced by a discreetly molded cornice with a rounded profile and feet with inverted heels, reflects a refined taste for classic forms without ostentation. The cherry wood features a warm and nuanced grain, enhanced by a waxed patina that brings out the wood's nobility and luster. The solid door, composed of four planks arranged in an open-book pattern, opens to a spacious interior equipped with three adjustable shelves on rails. The original lock is functional, complete with its key and a keyhole. This piece, narrower and shallower than usual, is both functional and decorative and will fit perfectly in a bedroom,
