Description

A faience cat depicted crouching in front of a small bowl, its head delicately tilted toward it. Its ivory-white glaze, known as "chagrin glaze," has a finely grained surface that accentuates the animal's rounded forms. The eyes, highlighted in black, and the bowl with its glossy black glaze create a contrast characteristic of Art Deco aesthetics. A charming composition with simple, stylized lines. Manufactured by Vinsare in Sèvres, in collaboration with ceramicist Paul Saily. Marked on the base: "Sèvres Vinsare France." Circa 1936-1940. Dimensions: length 28 cm; height 14 cm. Diameter of the dish: 12 cm.
