1 200 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Terracotta

Length : 56 cm

Height : 25 cm

Description

A large roof finial in polychrome glazed terracotta, depicted standing with an arched back and its tail raised. Its glass eyes give it a particularly lively expression. Its creamy white coat, dotted with brown and ochre highlights, is covered with a glossy glaze featuring a fine crackle pattern. The modeling accentuates the tufts of fur and the animal's expressive posture. The legs feature mounting holes corresponding to its function as a roof ornament. A decorative piece full of character that also fits well in an interior setting. Attribution: pottery from Mesnil-de-Bavent, Normandy. Estimated date: early 20th century, circa 1900-1920. Dimensions: length 56 cm; height 25 cm.
