Description

Set of six engravings by Jacques Rigaud - 18th century
A beautiful set of six 18th-century engravings by Jacques Rigaud (1680-1754), a French draftsman and engraver particularly renowned for his views of architecture, gardens, and landscapes. These engravings feature finely executed compositions, characteristic of Rigaud's work, with great attention paid to perspective, architecture, and the liveliness of the scenes. They are presented in antique frames, forming a particularly harmonious decorative ensemble. Condition: original condition with visible stains, foxing, and signs of age, which contribute to the authenticity of the set. The frames also show signs of wear. A very beautiful 18th-century decorative set, ideal for a library, an office, or a classic wall arrangement. This set can
