Description

Description :Elegant French antique chess table dating from the 19th century, featuring a beautifully decorated circular top with a contrasting wood marquetry chessboard.The tabletop displays an attractive combination of richly grained walnut and lighter, golden-toned wood, believed to be lemonwood. The alternating light and dark squares create a harmonious decorative composition, while the surrounding walnut veneer reveals particularly beautiful natural grain patterns, adding warmth and character to the piece.The circular top rests on a slender, faceted central pedestal, supported by an elegant tripod base with gently curved arms and rounded feet. The graceful proportions and refined simplicity of the design are characteristic of French occasional furniture of the 19th
