Description

Large Baroque mercury mirror with its octagonal carved wood & gilt frame. Rectangular with an octagonal shape, gilded and polychrome carved wood, a mercury mirror with a superb patina from use. 17th-century Italy. The mirror can easily be positioned vertically or horizontally as needed. The back of the mirror, which was missing, has been replaced with a thick period panel, but this is indeed its original mirror. It features large pinholes around its edge and some haze, but boasts a superb patina, creating a striking decorative effect. Dimensions: 53 cm (length) * 43 cm (height) and 5 cm (depth). The woodwork and gilding are in very good condition. A highly decorative piece that blends easily into any interior with character.
