Description

Neoclassical mirror/frame in gilded wood, late 18th - early 19th century. Elegant mirror from the Neoclassical period, crafted from finely carved and gilded wood, featuring a refined geometric decoration in the classicist style. The rectangular frame is embellished with a series of stars and eight-pointed rosettes, alternating with stylized geometric motifs, which run along the entire outer edge. The decorative bands, combined with linear and regular moldings, give the mirror a understated yet extremely refined appearance. The warm and luminous gilding features a pleasant patina of age that enhances the relief of the carvings and the artisanal quality of the craftsmanship. It is in excellent condition; the mirror is a mercury mirror. A refined neoclassical mirror of great decorative elegance, particularly
