Description

18th-century carved wood wall console table, with its original marble top. An elegant carved wooden console table with a brown patina, featuring rich rocaille decoration. Its openwork band is adorned with a large central shell, surrounded by finely carved volutes and foliage. Two curved legs, carved with plant motifs, extend in curves and counter-curves to meet around an imposing rocaille motif at the base. This airy composition lends the piece a beautiful decorative presence. The console table is topped with its original marble slab featuring a molded edge and shades of red, pink, and gray. The marble has undergone a discreet restoration, which is imperceptible in the overall appearance. Designed to be mounted on the wall, this console table can be installed at the desired
