Pierre Amendola, a painter from the Var region, spent his career at the PTT. His passion for painting took over after his retirement and following his meeting with the artist Isabelle

Duret-Dujarric Using very thick oil paint applied with a palette knife, he brought depth and life to his works. All of his exhibitions were a resounding success. Playing with light and bold colors. With a delicate and surprising technique, his originality, style, and talent are recognized as those of a modern and realistic figurative artist. Her strong
