Description

A beautiful set of eight Gien earthenware dessert plates, "Rambouillet" model, designed by Jean Bertholle in the 1950s. Each plate is adorned with a different dog, depicted within a stylized floral design in autumnal tones. Pointing dogs, hounds, and retrievers come together to form a varied and particularly decorative series that showcases different breeds and poses. Created in the 1950s, the Rambouillet design is closely linked to the world of presidential hunts at Rambouillet and is now among the manufactory's most sought-after historic designs. In very good overall condition.
