

Paul Buhré Le Phare. Gold Pocket Watch With Minute Repeater And Chronograph.

40 000 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Width : 5.9

Height : 5.9

Depth : 1

Description

PAUL BUHRÉ LE PHARE. GOLD POCKET WATCH WITH MINUTE REPEATER, CHRONOGRAPH, MOON PHASE, AND CYRILLIC CALENDAR. CA. 1903A

one-of-a-kind gold pocket watch, the result of a collaboration between the Swiss manufacturer Le Phare and the legendary supplier to the Imperial Court, Pavel Bure. This extremely rare piece combines a minute repeater, moon phases, a chronograph, Cyrillic calendar windows, and a bridged movement with two hammers and two gongs. Case No. 72647, 59 mm in diameter, made of 14-karat rose gold, adorned with fine guilloché and a partially enameled Russian imperial coat of arms featuring a double-headed eagle. The inner case back bears two historical inscriptions:
Dedication in Cyrillic: "To dear Mitia in gratitude

Dealer

Maison Antiquon

Fine Art & Antiques

Mobile : +33 6 30 17 47 17

Rue de France 48

Nice 06000

and for 30 years of loyal friendship. From V. Voronov. 1882-1912" Signature: "Pavel Bure, purveyor to the Court of His Imperial Majesty "The enamel dial features Roman numerals, calendar windows displaying the days and months in Russian, a date indicator, moon phases, and a 30-minute chronograph counter. Signed: Chetive & Sons. The movement is a complex bridge-mounted caliber with an anchor escapement and a compensated balance wheel, engraved with Swiss patent No. 334. Finishes: gold plating, blued screws, high-quality decoration. Hallmarks: Le Phare with exhibition medals, Pavel Bure, Swiss and Russian hallmarks (585 14K and 56 zolotnik) Dimensions: 59 mm Weight: 149 g Origin: Russia/Switzerland, circa 1903 Movement: Minute repeater, lunar calendar, chronograph, manual winding ID-ANTQ-12324