Description

This museum-quality work perfectly embodies the unique style and distinctive touch of the renowned Belgian surrealist Marcel Delmotte, whose creations are particularly prized by discerning collectors. The figure of the young woman is painted with exceptional softness and fluid transitions, masterfully evoking the canvases of the Renaissance and the Mannerist masters who deeply inspired Delmotte. The checkerboard-patterned floor stretching into the background creates a striking perspective, directly referencing Giorgio de Chirico's "metaphysical painting." Beginning in the 1950s, the recurring motifs in his work became mysterious ruins seemingly carved from rock, futuristic landscapes, and dreamlike desert spaces. This major painting belongs to the artist's most sought-after mature period, known as the "cosmic period" (from the 1950s to the 1980s). Investment and Decorative Value: With its perfect square format ((74 times 74) cm) and captivating surrealist atmosphere, this painting is an ideal centerpiece to enhance a modern or classic interior. As the market value of mid-20th-century European Surrealist masters continues to rise, this signed and dated masterpiece represents both an exceptionally elegant aesthetic acquisition and a sound long-term investment. The painting is signed and dated (1960) at the bottom.
