Description

Elegant 18th-century scriban chest of drawers
Featuring remarkable marquetry work in warm, luminous tones. This piece combines the functionality of a storage chest with that of a drop-leaf secretary desk. Decoration and Structure
Meticulous marquetry: The top flap features a superb geometric marquetry motif of precious woods (herringbone/fern design) framed by decorative borders. Front and Handles: The lower section features two small drawers at the top and two large drawers in the lower sections, adorned with pull handles and bronze lock plates with shell and rocaille motifs. Interior: The flap opens to reveal a beautiful workspace featuring several arched niches, surmounting a series of small storage drawers. Presence of the original wrought-iron mechanism and lock
