Description

Small reliquary of Saint Valerie Probably from southern Germany or the Alpine region, 19th century. Wooden casket with a molded base and cornice, topped by a triangular pediment crowned with a metal crucifix. Behind the glass front, a relic rests on a fabric cushion, accompanied by a handwritten phylactery reading "S. Valeriae M." Against a blue background, a rich decorative pattern typical of convent work, featuring silver and gold metallic threads, flowers, leaves, and textile ornaments. The closing panel on the reverse bears four red wax seals imprinted with ecclesiastical coats of arms. Signs of age and wear; textiles partially deteriorated; a few cracks in the seals.
