Description

Louis XVI-style console table- NAPOLEON III - 19th century, made of rosewood veneer and inlaid with precious woods, featuring floral and geometric motifs, accented with brass molding throughout. Single-door cabinet, with rich decoration featuring a vase of flowers in the frames, arabesques, and scrollwork, set against a geometric background, framed by a brass molding. Interior revealing two shelves. Pilaster-style sides with capitals, turned and fluted columns, adorned with a cascade of gilded bronze, finely chiseled at the junction of the columns and the belt. The entablature beneath the marble is accented by a gilded bronze molding that frames the corners, supporting a thick slab of marble that follows the contours and angles of this sideboard.
