Description

Large baluster vase with two handles on the shoulder, decorated with a relief frieze of Greek athletes running around the body of the vase. The glaze is turquoise in color, accented with emerald green streaks. The overall effect creates a highly decorative contrast. A discus thrower, a javelin thrower, and relay runners follow one another. A seated young woman awaits the victors, holding a laurel wreath in her hand. A Greek frieze beneath the figures highlights the scene, and a circular laurel wreath encircles it. The neck is decorated with interlaced motifs in relief. The interior of the vase is coated with a black glaze. Vase from the first third of the 20th century in perfect condition, signed Massier.
