Description

Louis XV Cabinet in Walnut and Burl Walnut - 18th Century
A very beautiful 18th-century Louis XV wardrobe in walnut, featuring a magnificent two-door front adorned with molded panels and superb burl walnut grain patterns. This cabinet stands out for the richness and originality of its carvings, particularly its richly carved central false door frame, adorned with decorative motifs and a medallion bearing the initials "MP." Each of the two doors features three elegantly scalloped panels, including a remarkable central quatrefoil panel. The lower rail is beautifully cut and carved, adorned in the center with a circular medallion. The piece rests on four curved legs topped with scrolls. The upper section is crowned by a beautiful molded cornice with an overhang. The interior, made entirely of wood, offers ample
