Description

This Louis XVI-style mantelpiece consists of a central clock and a pair of matching 5-light candelabra. The clock features a veined marble base resting on small gilded bronze feet, at the center of which is an enameled dial with Arabic numerals, bearing the signature of the Nantes-based firm "Armand - Aubert - Nantes." A lovely Louis XVI-style bow adorns the marble. The ensemble is crowned by a brown-patinated régule sculpture signed by Auguste Moreau, elegantly depicting a draped young woman seated on a rock. The two candelabra rise from a marble base encircled by gilded bronze garlands, from which a baluster shaft emerges, enclosed within chiseled acanthus leaves. The upper section unfolds into four richly ornamented, volute-shaped light arms that
