

Pair Of "moine" Liqueur Bottles In Flamed Stoneware - Denbac, Model 607 - Circa 1930

190 EUR

Signature : Denbac Vierzon

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Ceramic

Height : 29 et 22 cm

Description

Pair of anthropomorphic liqueur bottles made of glazed stoneware depicting monks, produced by the famous Denbac factory in Vierzon (during the René Denert and René-Louis Balichon period), circa 1930. This set consists of two complementary sizes: The large model: Height 29 cmThe medium model: Height 22 cmBoth pieces feature a superb finish with mottled and nuanced glazes, typical of the craftsmanship of the Vierzon workshop. The faces and the drapery of the monks' robes are finely executed. Each bottle has its original removable cap (cork cover) intact, a movable element that is particularly rare to find complete and undamaged. Both pieces are stamped on the underside of the base with the stylized "Denbac" mark and the mold number "607."Excellent overall condition. No cracks,

Dealer

ARTENKO

19th and 20th-Century Decorative Arts

Mobile : 0770489176

58 rue monceau

Paris 75008

chips, or restoration on the stoneware. The original corks are present. Careful and secure packaging; fast shipping with insurance and tracking.