Description

A delicate silver kovch, crafted in the workshops of Moscow's 20th artel during the heyday of Russian Art Nouveau. The elegant, elongated shape, featuring a slender spout and a scroll-shaped handle, creates a harmonious whole. The body is adorned with polychrome enamel applied over fine filigree, forming a refined floral design of buds and blooming flowers. The entirely gilded interior enhances the object's decorative and ceremonial character. Hallmarks: "20A" hallmark of the Moscow Jewelry Artel; Russian silver hallmark "84" featuring a woman's head in a kokoshnik turned to the right, Moscow Assay Office; additional fineness mark. Dimensions: Height--3.5 cm; length including spout and handle - 7.9 cm. Weight: 48 g. Condition: In good
