Description

An elegant little table ewer in the Rocaille-Louis XV style, dating from the late 19th century, circa 1860-1880, in perfect working condition. The body is made of twisted crystal, and the mount is solid silver in repoussé with a beautiful decoration of small flowers, foliage, and latticework. The hinged lid is topped with a twisted knob. The interior is vermeil. The base is encircled by an openwork frieze of foliage and flowers. Three Minerve first-title hallmarks (guaranteeing solid silver) are visible on the neck, on the frieze of the base, and on the underside. Height: 21 cm. Weight: 507 grams. Shipped with invoice--fast, carefully packaged, and very secure. Shop with confidence: find our customer reviews by searching for
